

Chad Braverman

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER/CHIEF CREATIVE OFFICER

DOCJOHNSON®

Chad Braverman joined the Doc Johnson team in 2004 and has become the creative voice and direction of the company. Chad's consistent efforts have ensured that Doc Johnson has a leading position in the pleasure products industry by developing premium products here in America, making Doc Johnson the most desirable brand globally and cultivating satisfied customers.

Chad completed his degree in Business from University of Miami and immediately put his knowledge to use here at Doc Johnson. With Chad's directive we consistently hone our unique brands, superior products, and exceptional marketing assets. The quality and care put into each and every product is evident, giving Doc Johnson products a tremendous global following.

By setting a steadfast strategy to create as many local American jobs as possible, Chad's key initiatives have proven invaluable in achieving sustainable, long-term growth. Chad is always looking for ways to deliver great products and elevated consumer experiences, while strengthening our global presence.
